PREFACE.

THE purpose of this book is to provide a guide to the large amount of Bibliographical work which has been done to assist the study of the Topography of Great Britain and Ireland. I wish to make very clear at the outset that this book is not a Bibliography of each individual Town and Parish history, nor does it cover the same ground as any existing work, but attempts to go further than any book has hitherto done in providing clues to the discovery of the known as well as the obscure publications relating to every district in the Kingdom. I have cast my net widely, and what I have put together in the following pages is the result of many years' vigilance in taking notes, followed by four years of active work in amplifying, and preparing for the press.

All systematic bibliographies are included, and I have in addition called attention to source books, indexes, &c., of local, historical, or topographical material, because such books so often serve the purpose of bibliographies, and supplement them. The various local manuscript and printed collections are brought into the scheme of the book, especially those numerous and valuable collections which are lodged in the British Museum, and are easily accessible to students. I have searched the Transactions of County Antiquarian Societies, and unearthed a large amount of valuable bibliographical work buried therein. Until our public libraries catalogue, as they should do, each of the various items in these collections, they must remain almost an unexplored field. Bibliographical books and pamphlets relating to Ballads, Broad-sides, Chap-books, Newspapers, Maps, and Portraits are included, and also any valuable local 'Garlands,' which often contain rare Street Ballads, giving accounts of local incidents, murders, &c.

Descriptive or bibliographical accounts of parochial documents are included, but Parish Registers themselves, unless accompanied by bibliographical notes, do not come within the scheme. Calendars of local documents are included, but not Calendars of Wills, because I hope later to issue a separate volume which will give a bibliography of books on Wills, arranged under counties.

The auxiliary lists at the end, printed as appendices, contain chiefly such references as I have thought might get overlooked. These appendices designedly omit many well-known books, and they are purposely limited to the less-known bibliographies, indexes, &c.

In surveying what has already been done for various counties bibliographically, one is obliged to regard what still remains to be accomplished. Certain counties have had the good fortune to find their bibliographers, while other counties, possessed of a wealth of topographical material, have not succeeded in securing one. As far back as 1837 the bibliography of the county of Kent was undertaken by that fine old pioneer, John Russell Smith. His book, Bibliotheca Cantiana, one of the first and one of the best, is excellent up to the time when it was issued.

London has yet to find its bibliographers. The duty of compiling a bibliography of London rightly belongs to the Corporation, which, with all its wealth, has never issued a satisfactory catalogue of its possessions in the Guildhall Library, nor has it even issued a periodical bulletin of bibliographical information, as is being done by all good libraries in America and by many here. The counties of Bedfordshire, Berkshire, Derbyshire, Hertfordshire, Leicestershire, and Shropshire are a few instances only of counties which have great claims bibliographically, but so far no one has been forthcoming to undertake the work required. Welsh and Irish counties are almost all untouched. In Scotland a band of zealous and capable bibliographers is producing good work.

Two fine models exist which may well be followed by any one who has the enterprise to embark upon a bibliography of his own county. These models are Boase and Courtney's Bibliotheca

Cornubiensis, and Hyett and Bazeley's Manual of Gloucestershire Literature. A third may be cited. John Taylor, a printer and newspaper proprietor of Northampton, gave up many years of his life, and with zeal collected a great body of valuable bibliographical information respecting Northamptonshire. In the end, he printed six copies only of his magnum opus. I had to journey to Northampton in order to see one of the six copies, which is fortunately in the Free Library in that town.

Perhaps too few writers and compilers of books of reference openly acknowledge their indebtedness to the resources of the Library of the British Museum. As a youth I began to study in that magnificent Library, and I have used the Reading Room almost daily ever since. I wish to pay a tribute to its admirable organization. I believe that there could be no better advice to a student beginning the study of Topography than to tell him to first make himself acquainted, as far as he can, with the books of reference, specially chosen and placed in the Reading Room of the British Museum, in the sections devoted to Topography, Genealogy, and History.

I have compiled this book as a labour of love and as a hobby in my spare hours. Mr. Walter Brown has been of the greatest assistance in arranging my manuscript and doing most valuable work in preparing it for the press. Furthermore, no praise could be too high for his patience in the construction of the Index.

During the progress of the book through the press, I have received many kindnesses from Mr. George Clinch, who ably fills the enviable post of Librarian to the Society of Antiquaries.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

BOWES (Robert). A CATALOGUE OF BOOKS PRINTED AT, OR RELATING TO, THE UNIVERSITY, TOWN, AND COUNTY OF CAMBRIDGE FROM 1521 TO 1893, with Biblio. and Biog. Notes. (Index by Ernest Worman). 2 vols. Cambridge. 1894. Appendix III. List of Maps, Views, Caricatures, &c., pp. 497-504.

Bartholomew (Augustus Theodore). Cambridge University Library. Catal. of the Books and Papers, for the most part relating to the University, Town, and County of Cambridge, bequeathed to the University by John Willis Clark, M.A. Cambridge. 1912.

The principal sources of the collection were these: (1) An important 'Catalogue of tracts, etc., relating to Cambridgeshire' was issued by A. R. Smith, of Soho Square, in 1878, and from this Mr. Clark bought extensively. (2) The Rev. Stephen Parkinson, Fellow of St. John's College (B.A. 1845, M.A. 1848), was in the habit of preserving all Cambridge papers which came into his hands; his collection was acquired by Mr. Clark and filled numerous gaps in the long series of fly-sheets, programmes, proposals, &c., which is a particularly valuable feature of the Clark Collection (see the Catalogue, s.v. 'Cambridge Papers' and 'Fly Sheets'). (3) Mr. Henry Bradshaw, University Librarian, added many tracts to the collection; and at the sale which followed his death in 1886, Mr. Clark acquired many more Cambridge items. (4) Dr. H. R. Luard, Registrar, who died in 1891, left Mr. Clark his University pamphlets and Benteleiana. (5) In 1894 Mr. Robert Bowes published his remarkable 'Catalogue of Cambridge Books,' and a large number of the pieces there described made their way into the Cambridge collection at Serpentine House. In addition to these main sources, Mr. Clark rarely missed an opportunity of securing any books which came within the scope of his collection wherever and whenever he happened to see them.

Mr. Clark's main idea in forming the collection was to illustrate the history and development of Cambridge by means of its literature; he collected from an historical and biographical rather than from a bibliographical point of view. Most of the books of typographical interest which were originally included in his Cambridge Collection he gave to the Library in 1902, in order that they might appear in Mr. Sayle's 'Early English Printed Books' in the University Library, Cambridge.

In addition to the books and papers here described, Mr. Clark left to the University a collection of prints and drawings of the University, Town, and County of Cambridge. Besides topographical engravings and plans the collection includes a series of original pencil sketches by George Nicholson (1816); architectural drawings by Professor Willis; and photographs of University ceremonies.

It is hoped that these may be fully described in a projected comprehensive Catalogue of Cambridge Prints and Plans.

Descriptive Account of The Foulis Exhibition (reprinted from 'The Library,' July 1913).

The objects of the Glasgow Biblio. Soc. are thus expressed in the Constitution and Rules:—II. The object of the Society is to encourage and stimulate the study of Bibliography in all its branches, but with special attention to the Bibliography of Scotland, and particularly of Glasgow and the West.

The Society seeks to attain this object so far as concerns Glasgow and the West:

I. By the preparation and reading of papers giving (1) Lists of authors, printers, publishers, booksellers, and bookbinders; and of illustrations, manuscripts and printed books. (2) Histories and bibliographies of authors, printers, presses, publishers, booksellers, book-auctions, institutions, libraries, periodicals and individual books. (3) Bibliographies of special movements in religion, politics, science, letters, art, commerce, etc.

II. By the exhibition, at the meetings, of manuscripts, books, broadsides, etc.

The Glasgow Univ. Lib. contains the finest, if not the most extensive Library in Scotland. It possesses many Special Collections, including a unique set of Glasgow pamphlets, in 118 volumes, bequeathed about 1847 by John Smith, bookseller, Secretary of the Maitland Club. This Collection includes political manifestoes, election squibs, placards, tracts, ballads, and chap-books. The Library also contains eleven vols. of MS. Letters relative to the Stained Glass Windows of the Cathedral, by Charles Heath Wilson.

BALLADS, CHAPBOOKS, ETC.

[See also Appendix, 'England—General,' for Bibliographies of Ballads, many of which relate to London.]

The Ballad Society was founded in London by F. J. Furnivall in 1868, to publish and render accessible the rare and large stores of Street Ballads in the Public and Private Collections of the Country. It was intended to deal first with the 'Pepysian Collection' at Cambridge, but this was not done. The most important publications (some of which contain copious Indices) issued during its existence were:—

The Roxburghe Ballads (in Brit. Mus.), ed. by William Chappell and J. Woodfall Ebsworth. Vol. i. has a list of Ballad Printers, etc.; vol. viii. William Thackeray's List of Ballads, 1685. 9 vols. 1869-99.

The Bagford Ballads (in Brit. Mus.) ed. by J. Woodfall Ebsworth. 3 vols. 1876-78. Ballads from MSS., ed. by F. J. Furnivall and W. R. Morfill. 2 vols. 1868-73.

Large numbers of the Ballads relate to incidents connected with the history of London.

Pepys's Collection of English Broadside Ballads at Magdalene College, Cambridge. For description and arrangement see H. B. Wheatley's 'Samuel Pepys and the World he lived in,' 1889, p. 91, also C. H. Hartshorne, 'Book Rarities of the Univ. of Cambridge,' 1829, pp. 258-260.

Many of the Pepysian Ballads are printed in the Ballad Society's 'The Roxburghe Ballads,' ed. by J. W. Ebsworth.

Ballads, etc., principally relating to the City of London, 1659-1711. A Collection in the King's Library of the British Museum, see King's Lib. Catalogue under 'Poetae Anglici' in vol. iv. pp. 484-487. 1828.

A Collection of Ballads chiefly printed in London by J. Catnach, J. Pitts, H. P. Such, and others, mostly between 1800 and 1870. Collected by the Rev. Sabine Baring Gould. With MS. Indexes. 10 vols. (In British Museum.) The British Museum Library is rich in Collections of Ballads, for which see the General Catalogue under the heading Ballads. For an Account of the Catnach Ballads see 'The Hist. of the Catnach Press,' by C. Hindley. 1886.

Bibliotheca Lindesiana. Catal. of Collection of English Ballads of the XVIIth and XVIIIth centuries; printed for the most part in black letter. 1890. Compiled for James Ludovic Lindsay, 26th Earl of Crawford. Privately Printed. List of Printers and Publishers and of Booksellers who sold Ballads, pp. 535-545.

Collmann (Herbert L.). Ballads and Broad-sides, chiefly of the Elizabethan Period and Printed in Black Letter, most of which were formerly in the 'Heber Collection,' and are now in the Library at Britwell, Bucks. The Roxburghe Club, 1912.

Alphabetical List of Black Letter Ballads and Broad-sides, known as 'The Heber Collection,' in the possession of S. Christie-Miller, of Britwell, Bucks. London, 1872. Consists largely of London Ballads.

Lemon (Robert). Catal. of a Collection of Broad-sides (Ballads, etc.) in the possession of the Soc. of Antiquaries of London. 1866. The Collection is largely relating to London.

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

TAYLOR (JOHN). BIBLIOTHECA NORTHANTONENSIS: A BIBLIOGRAPHICAL ACCOUNT OF WHAT HAS BEEN WRITTEN, OR PRINTED, RELATING TO THE HISTORY, TOPOGRAPHY, ANTIQUITIES, FAMILY HISTORY, CUSTOMS, ETC., OF NORTHAMPTONSHIRE, INCLUDING A LIST OF WORTHIES AND AUTHORS, AND THEIR WORKS. Northampton, circa 1869.

The following is a description by John Taylor of this almost unique work when announced in 1868.

CONTENTS.

- I. Historians of the County.
- II. Principal Maps.
- III. Heraldic Visitations, and Reference to Genealogical and MSS. Collections in the Principal Public and Private Libraries.
- IV. Tracts printed during the Civil War and Commonwealth, 1640-1660.
- V. Acts of Parliament—Local, Personal, and Private, from Edw. I. to Victoria.
- VI. Calendar of State Papers.
- VII. Blue Books.
- VIII. Books relative to the County in General.
- IX. Newspapers and Books printed in the County.
- X. Books relative to particular Towns, Parishes, Seats, Families, Customs, and Historical Events, in alphabetical order.
- XI. Authors and Worthies, in alphabetical order, with Lists of their Works.
- XII. Explanation of the References to the Works referred to throughout the volume.
- XIII. Index of Places and Subjects.
- XIV. Index of Persons.

Of this valuable book only Six Copies were printed and but Three offered for sale. One is in the Public Lib. at Northampton, another in the Public Lib. at Kettering, and a third in the Public Lib. at Peterborough—the remaining copies are in private hands. Taylor issued his 'Bibliotheca' in parts, but did not complete it in this form.

The copy in the Northampton Public Library, which by the courtesy of Mr. Reginald W. Brown, the Librarian, I have been able to consult, is a 'laid-down copy,' the material for which was acquired for £25, and a Supplement was bought, later for a further outlay of £3. The entries are kept up-to-date. The arrangement of the titles is done with great skill and consists of Two main Classifications under

Vol. II. Oxford Literature, 1450-1640, and 1641-1650. Biblio. Contents:—

Biblio. of First Book Printed at Oxford (1468). p. 2.

Periodicals issued at Oxford, 1641-1650. pp. 491-499.

A Chronological list of persons connected with Book-production at Oxford, 1180-1650. App. C. pp. 502-515.

Documents relating to the History of the Oxford Press, 1373-1637. App. D. pp. 515-530.

Lists of Imprints, Tables of Printers and Publishers, etc., 1641-1650, with some earlier. App. F. pp. 534-542.

"The Early Oxford Press," a bibliography of printing and publishing at Oxford "1468"-1640, was published in 1895, and confined itself entirely to books printed or published at Oxford. It was in fact a study of the earlier days of the greatest English press, rather than a view of the literature of Oxford. It was obvious that sooner or later a more interesting volume would suggest itself, which should add to the record of the Oxford Press a corresponding study of the books which concern Oxford, whether printed at Oxford or not.

The second volume accordingly includes a bibliography of books about Oxford, wheresoever printed, and divides them theoretically into three classes:—books of primary importance, fully described; minor pieces, more summarily treated; and thirdly, a register of the Oxford Press.

Pages 1-147 of the second volume are therefore a supplement to Volume I., adding to that work an account of books about Oxford not printed at Oxford, and giving a long series of running numbers (1-963) by which each book can be quoted (if desired) as "Oxford Books" or "Madan" number so-and-so. The opportunity has been taken to incorporate corrections and additions and to add brief annals of Oxford history for each year from 1450 to 1640.

'It is hoped that Vol. III. may cover 1651 to 1800.'—Extract from Preface to Vol. II.

The first vol. of 'Oxford Books' was also issued in 1895 by the Oxford Hist. Soc. (Publications, vol. xxix.) as a separate work under the title 'The Early Oxford Press, a Biblio. of Printing and Publishing at Oxford, "1468"-1640.'

— Specimen of a Biblio. of Books Printed at Oxford, 1468-1640, shortly to be issued. (Biblio. Soc. Trans., vol. i. pp. 99-102. 1893.)

Index-Catal. of the Library of the Som. Archæol. & Nat. Hist. Soc. By William Bidgood. Taunton, 1889. Additions to the Library are enumerated in the 'Proceedings' of the Society.

'The re-arrangement of the Library is being continued, a work upon which the Rev. E. H. Bates Harbin has bestowed a good deal of time. The most important gift has been the five volumes of Portraits and twelve volumes of Illustrations of general topographical interest relating to Somerset, presented by Mr. C. Tite. A search in this valuable series will be found indispensable for all students of Somerset History. The Pigott drawings, the Braikenridge extra-illustrated "Collinson," the Tite series, and the Pridham drawings of Fonts represent a mass of pictorial information of which any district might be proud, and such as few Counties can be fortunate enough to possess.' Report of Council of the Soc. in 'Proc.' vol. ix. p. 8. 1914.

Index to Collinson's History of Somerset (1791). Edited by F. W. Weaver and E. H. Bates, including a Supplemental Index to all the Armorial Bearings mentioned in the Work, by J. R. Bramble. Taunton, 1898.

An extra-illustrated copy of Collinson's History, in 14 vols., made by William Adlam, is in the Lib. of the Soc. of Antiquaries, London. A copy among the Phelps MSS. in the Brit. Museum, in 4 vols., is interleaved with MS. Notes by the Rev. William Phelps, one of the Somerset Historians.

New County History of Somerset. Proposals were issued some years ago, by a County History Committee, appointed by the Som. Archæol. Soc., and an important circular was circulated relating to the scheme.

Elliot (W. F.). A Collection of Books, Drawings, Engravings, illustrating the History, Topography, Antiquities, etc., of the County of Somerset, formed by W. F. Elliot, of Wilton, Taunton, in 63 vols., including many extra-illustrated copies of important Somerset County Histories, among which was Collinson's 'Hist. of Somersetshire,' 1791, with special title-pages, extended to 9 vols. by the addition of 690 drawings and 873 engravings, and a copious MS. Index. Also included was a Collection of Drawings, Engravings (many now rarely seen), and Papers, 1853, forming an Appendix to the same work; a set of the 'Proceedings of the Som. Archæol. Soc.,' 1849-54, inlaid to folio size, and extra-illustrated; a copy of Savage's 'Hist. of Taunton,' 1822, inlaid to folio size, and extra-illustrated, and other works. This remarkable collection was sold by Christie's on 14 July, 1897, and purchased by Messrs. Sotheran, who offered it for sale in its entirety; and issued a description.

A Guide to the Museum of the Som. Archæol. & Nat. Hist. Soc. in Taunton Castle, by William Bidgood. Taunton, 1879. Second edition. 1883.

— Catal. of English Broad-sides, 1505-1897, with Preface by Lord Crawford and Introduction by J. P. Edmond. (Bibliotheca Lindesiana.) Aberdeen, 1898. Privately Printed.

[The student of local history has long seen the importance of studying single sheet literature and Ballad journalism so as to unearth any old Local Ballads, Garlands, Broad-sides, etc., as well as more important and authoritative sheets such as Proclamations. These are of both topographical as well as historical and typographical value, and from the time of Pepys and indeed earlier they have been collected with enthusiasm by the few. They reflect the opinions of the day upon special subjects or events. The Ballad and the Broad-side were forerunners of the pamphlet.

Under the headings of numerous counties, there are given in this work references to the literature of local Ballads, etc., but I think it necessary here under the General heading of 'England' to refer to the various sources which exist for the study of street journalism and single local sheets in general. The pioneers of the study of this branch of our subject were the promoters of the Percy Society in 1840, and J. O. Halliwell-Phillipps who worked independently for many years. In 1866, Robert Lemon issued his valuable 'Catal. of Printed Broad-sides in the possession of the Soc. of Antiquaries,' and in 1868, the Ballad Society began the publication of the Roxburghe, the Bagford, and other Collections of Street Ballads; Frederick J. Furnivall, William Chappell, and E. F. Rimbault being chiefly concerned in this admirable work, followed by J. W. Ebsworth, who gave up the greater part of his life to it. There is no necessity to pursue the history of the subject further, except to allude to the munificent and princely contributions made by the late Lord Crawford, references to whose chief publications are here given.]

Steele (Robert Reynolds). Biblio. of Royal Proclamations of the Tudor and Stuart Sovereigns, etc., 1485-1714, vol. i. England and Wales, vol. ii. Scotland and Ireland. (Bibliotheca Lindesiana, vols. v.-vi. 1910.) A most important section deals with Collections, and where preserved.

Halliwell-Phillipps (J. O.). A Catal. of Proclamations, Broad-sides, Ballads, and Poems, presented to the Chatham Library, Manchester, by J. O. Halliwell. 1851. Privately Printed.

— A Catal. of Chapbooks, Garlands, and Popular Histories in the possession of J. O. Halliwell. 1849.

The Ballad Society. Publications. 38 parts. London, 1868-1899. Certain sections of this magnificently edited series have Indices, but the General Index which Joseph Woodfall Ebsworth had prepared in part has never been completed. The work as it stands is a monument of learning and curious local lore. The two final parts of the Roxburghe Ballads contain the most important notes for the researcher.

Gray (George John). A General Index to Hazlitt's 'Handbook' and 'Biblio. Collections,' 1867-1889. London, 1893.

Newton (T. W.). Catal. of Old Ballads in the possession of Frederic Ouvry. London, 1877. Privately Printed.

Catal. of Books in the Library of the Brit. Museum printed in England, etc., up to 1640. 3 vols. London, 1894. See Index in vol. iii. under Ballads. For Collections of Ballads, see the General Cat. of Printed Books under 'Ballads.'

The Brit. Museum at one time considered the question of issuing a complete Catal. of its Ballads (see article by J. Winter Jones in 'North British Review,' Nov. 1846). The Collections of Ballads in the Museum include the Roxburghe and Bagford Collections and several others. At present each Ballad is entered in the General Catal. under its title.
